

DARIL & DANA MAGLEBY

Daril and Dana Magleby have been selected to serve as grand marshals of the 2025 Lindon Days Celebration. As long-time residents and dedicated contributors to the community, the Maglebys embody the values of service, leadership and family that define Lindon.

Daril Magleby was born in Monroe, Utah, and raised on a farm, where he learned the principles of hard work and perseverance. After graduating from South Sevier High School in 1981 — where he served as student body president — he attended Southern Utah State College before serving a mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the New Mexico Albuquerque Mission. Upon returning, he completed a degree in communications with a minor in marketing at Southern Utah University and was actively involved in student leadership.

An entrepreneur at heart, Daril has built a distinguished career in business. He co-founded Label Express, a successful flexographic label manufacturing company, and went on to help lead ventures such as The Pizza Factory and FlexTech. Today, he is a partner at TherapEase, LLC, a company focused on innovative knee rehabilitation technology.

Daril has served on the Provo/Orem Chamber of Commerce Board, chaired the Utah County Convention and Visitors Bureau, and contributed to public health as a member of the Utah County Health Department Board. He served for eight years on the Utah County Tax Advisory Board and has been a Lindon City Council member in two separate terms.

His service in his church includes leadership roles such as bishop, stake executive secretary, and branch president at the Provo Missionary Training Center. He and Dana also served an LDS mission together in the Scotland/Ireland Mission, offering support to young adults and missionaries.

Dana Magleby was born in Mesa, Arizona, and raised in Cedar City, Utah. She graduated from Cedar High School and attended Southern Utah State College before serving a mission in the Indiana Indianapolis Mission. She worked in various secretarial roles, including at the Provo City Attorney's Office and the Brigham Young University Police Department, before stepping away from professional work to focus on raising her family.

Dana's lifelong dedication to service is evident in her church and community involvement. She has served in many capacities within the LDS Church, including Young Women's president, in the stake Young Women's, in the Stake Relief Society, and in Primary. She also played a central role during their mission in Scotland/Ireland and in leadership at the Provo MTC.

Dana has also volunteered extensively with the PTA in local schools, supporting students and educators alike. Together, Daril and Dana have lived in Utah County for more than 37 years and have called Lindon home for the past 30.

Married in 1987 in the St. George Utah Temple, they are the proud parents of four children and loving grandparents to two beautiful granddaughters. Their family continues to grow and thrive throughout Utah County, with deep roots in the Lindon community.

Daril and Dana are honored to serve as Grand Marshals for Lindon Days 2025. They look forward to celebrating this special occasion with their neighbors, friends, and fellow Lindon residents — a place they love and have helped shape through decades of service and devotion.

MIKE & RHONDA VANCHIERE

Mike Vanchiere & Rhonda (Rupp) Vanchiere met at Ricks College in the summer of 1972. They started dating in September and knew after a few dates that there was something very serious and special between them. They continued dating until the summer of 1974 when Mike went on a mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to Fukuoka, Japan.

They were married in October 1976 in the Salt Lake Temple and moved to Louisiana — Mike's home — for two years, where Mike finished his undergraduate degree at Louisiana State University. They were blessed with their first baby while at LSU.

After Mike graduated from LSU, the family moved to Orem. It was much closer to Idaho, Rhonda's home state! Mike earned his master's degree in public administration from Brigham Young University. They were blessed with five more beautiful children in Orem. They have three girls and three boys. They now have 24 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren that have filled their lives with so much joy.

After graduating from BYU, Mike took a job with Provo City in the economic development department. He worked there for about five years before he was hired by a private development company that packaged SBA 504 loans, now called Mountain West Small Business Finance. He worked there until he retired at the end of 2019. He loved his work there. While working there, he was asked to be a national trainer for NADCO (the trade association for Certified Development Companies). He was considered an expert in his field and a favorite trainer across the country. He was famous for his funny one-liners, his southern boy charm and his keen sense of humor.

Mike served his community and his church in various capacities. He served as president of the Kiwanis Club, chairman of the Boys & Girls Club and president of the chamber of commerce as well as part of many other organizations and boards. His latest community service was in Lindon City. Mike served on the planning commission, as a city council member, and as a member of the Waste Management Board.

Mike passed away last October due to complications related to a 4-wheeling accident. He loved the Lord. His favorite thing was sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ and being a missionary. But, most of all, he loved and served his growing family and his wife. He was so proud of them.

Rhonda attended two years of college at Ricks College and then worked at a bank in northern Idaho while Mike was serving his mission. After they married, she worked at LSU and managed apartments. As the children started coming, she wanted to spend her time as a mother, wife, and homemaker, which she was able to do. She was the president of the Wives of Public Administration Students for two years and loved that.

Rhonda has served in the Church of Jesus Christ in various positions throughout her whole life. She loved working as president of the Primary twice and serving in presidencies working with the Young Women of the church. She served her community as a voting judge and a delegate to the State Republican Convention. She loves to keep up on politics. While her kids were growing up, she served in PTA as president at both Windsor Elementary School and Timpanogos High School and as council president of the PTA for Orem City. For years, she worked part-time as a receptionist in Mike's office at Mountain West Small Business Finance. She loved the people she worked with, especially her husband, Mike!

Mike and Rhonda are known for their hospitality and ability to make anyone feel welcome in their home at any time. Their home has been fondly referred to by friends and family as "Hotel Vanchiere," and they wouldn't have it any other way.
